

I am trying to process emails my outlook inbox as per diagram below. Once an individual email has been processed the next unread email should be getting processed.

I am trying to setup loops in UiPath to make this happen with varying results. I literally want to process one email at one time. What do I need to adjust in my project to ensure that one email gets processed before the next unread email gets processed?